

Are you interested in health and science careers?

The Charles Drew Science Scholars program provides academic and social support for high achieving students pursuing science and math degrees. Including individuals interested in professional health and science careers, such as, medicine, veterinary medicine, dentistry, research, pharmacology, optometry, physical therapy, and public health.

ACADEMIC ACHIEVEMENT

•
CAREER

PREPARATION

•
COMMUNITY SERVICE

Transforming the Face of Science

Michigan State University

955 N. Brody Road
C202 Rather Hall
East Lansing, MI 48825

Phone: 517.353.8491

Fax: 517.353.4411

E-mail: drewscholars@cns.msu.edu

Charles Drew Scholars...

- live with other Drew students in a residential learning community
- gain a solid foundation in the basic science core disciplines of mathematics, chemistry, biology, and physics
- develop critical thinking skills and other skills important to academic success
- are engaged in a supportive environment that facilitates personal, academic, and professional growth
- receive individual mentoring for career preparation and postgraduate education